

Anja Gengo

Anja currently works with the United Nations Secretariat for the Internet Governance Forum (IGF), as a focal point for the national, regional and youth IGF initiatives. Prior to joining the IGF Secretariat, she worked as a legal analyst at a Law Office in Bosnia and Herzegovina. She is one of the co-founders of the Centre for Media Law, where she worked as an Internet policy analyst and programme coordinator.

Ms. Gengo is a 10-year experienced debater, trainer and judge for the Karl Popper and British Parliamentary debate formats and a winner of many national and international debate related tournaments. She holds a bachelor degree in Law and a master degree in International Law.