

Daksha Córdoba

Daksha is originally from Puerto Rico but live and work in Los Angeles.

She has a background in National Security and have also worked in the entertainment and CPG industries in data analytics. Currently involved with a project in Puerto Rico called Project Coqui in collaboration with People-Centered Internet to foster innovation, provide tools and knowledge, and to experiment with network-oriented models that will enable and empower communities to rise from poverty, resulting in job creation and economic growth with the power of the Internet.